Biography

Melodic Groove Metal, what more could you ask for? Source of Rage from Lower-Saxony/Germany stands for making you bang your necks like there's no tomorrow while still delivering catchy melodies paired with technical refinement – to be clear, Source of Rage is representing everything you need for getting the vibe and groove of heavy music and having a good time with a nice and cool drink.

Oliver Roffmann and the three brothers Marko, Riko and Thilo Krause are the perfect musical and personal matchup. The first EP entitled antagonize was released in 2015, followed by the full-length-debut Realise the Scope two years later, which was recorded at Institut für Wohlklangforschung/Hannover. The unique mixture of friction, aggression, different approaches to thinking and the resulting positive energy within people led to the participation and the triumph in the national final of the Wacken Open Air Metal Battle. Besides gigs at Wacken Open Air and Dong Open Air, where Source of Rage shared the stage with bands like Kataklysm, Alestorm, Insomnium and many more, they released several music- and live-videos promoting Realise the Scope and gained experience on international stages.

After releasing the single Aware in 2021, produced by the internationally renowned producer Lasse Lammert at LSD-Studios in Lübeck, Source of Rage entered the studio again to start the recordings for the successor of Realise the Scope. In spring of 2022 Source of Rage signed with Metalville Records by which Witness the Mess, again produced by Johann Huke and mastered by Lasse Lammert, was finally released in July 2022.

With the label support Source of Rage are taking the next steps regarding sound and songwriting to elaborate their unique style. As a result, they played many different festival- and clubshows in 2023 and were booked again for the Wacken Open Air in 2024. In the long run it is Source of Rage's intention to stand out of the great mass of good modern metal bands. The work on new songs is in full swing and the release of new music is scheduled for 2025.
